

BetterCities

- We are a modular and multi-level platform that connects major strategic projects of a future city for customers, tourists and residents
- Next to the high-quality look and feel of the platform, it's „high usage and entertainment concept“ is a unique selling point.
- Apps make up 80% of mobile internet use, meaning a mobile platform is the best way to reach your target audience.
- Special widgets for local energy suppliers, commercial and service companies and manufacturers represent a significant added value for your city.
